Scott Hamilton Joins Satcom Direct

Satellite Beach, FL, March 21, 2006 — Satcom Direct announced today that Scott Hamilton has joined the company as Vice President, Business & Strategic Development. In this role, Mr. Hamilton will play an integral part in the development and execution of Satcom Direct's strategic plan.

Of his new status, Mr. Hamilton stated, "I am pleased to have the opportunity to continue working with friends and colleagues in the aviation industry as well as progress in my career path. I'm confident that my knowledge and skills will augment Satcom Direct's existing talent."

Formerly the Director of Flight Support Services at Honeywell, Scott was responsible for the development and growth of the Global Data Center. In that role, he managed the delivery and expansion of dispatch and data communications services to business and commercial aviation operators. Most recently Scott was Director of Sales & Marketing for Honeywell's Aerospace Information Services business.

"Scott's relationships and experiences in the aviation industry will be invaluable as Satcom Direct continues to grow," said Jim Jensen, Satcom Direct Founder and CEO.
